

COLUMBIA AND YALE SCORE IN FENCING

Both Qualify for Sabre Finals—
Harvard and M. I. T. Are Epee Survivors.

OUTERBRIDGE EPEE STAR

Harvard Captain Wins Five of His
Six Bouts—He Is Also in Foils Final.

Columbia and Yale again won the majority of honors in the second day's fencing in the semifinal round of Northern Division of the Intercollegiate Fencing Association held at Columbia yesterday.

In the sabre division Columbia and Yale were tied for the lead and will be eligible to compete in the final at the Hotel Astor on April 14 and 15. Harvard and M. I. T. qualified for the finals with the epee.

Robert Outerbridge, the Harvard captain, outclassed the field in the epee division, winning five out of six bouts. Five men were tied for second place and a play-off was necessary in order to determine the three who, along with Outerbridge, would qualify for the final. Norman Cohn of Columbia, John Davidson of Harvard and Snow of Yale won in the fence-off. Harvard will now be represented by two men in the final, while Yale and Columbia will have one each.

Outerbridge will also compete in the foils final as he qualified in that division on Friday. Cohn, the Columbia star, will also compete in two weapons, qualifying in both the epee and sabre divisions.

Harvard outfenced Yale with the epee and won every bout, while the best it could do with M. I. T. and Columbia was a deadlock in each meet.

In the sabre division, M. I. T. failed to win a bout and lost to both Yale and Columbia by 4 to 0 counts. Columbia and Yale tied at 2 all.

Columbia will have two men in the sabre final, for besides Cohn, John Ely also won three of his four bouts. Robert Nussbaum and Al Solomon will represent Yale.
