

GIOLITO OF N. Y. U. LEADS FOILSMEN

Annexes All Ten of His Bouts in Freshman Competition at the Fencers Club

PERLOWIN OF YALE SECOND

Loses Only One Match in the Final—Miller of Harvard Takes Third Prize

As a prelude to the intercollegiate fencing championships of next week-end, fifteen freshmen from six colleges competed for the Clemens Medals at the Fencers Club last night.

Silvio Giolito of New York City and New York University led the yearlings in the foils competition in such a decisive manner that not one of his ten opponents could score a single match victory against him.

A graduate of Stuyvesant High School, 18-year-old Giolito has quite an imposing record for the three years since he first started to fence. This year he was second in the national junior foils title, last year he won the A. F. L. A. interscholastic crown and in 1935 he was the P. S. A. L. champion.

Takes Up Epée, Saber

While his specialty is the foil, Giolito revealed last night that he is taking up the épée and saber. Next year he is expected to show in all three weapons for his alma mater and no doubt he will be heard from in the 1938 intercollegiates.

The victor was touched nineteen times in his ten engagements. Three opponents failed to score a single touch against him, but three in the final round-robin made four touches in bouts with the N. Y. U. youngster.

New York City also claimed the second-place winner, Paul Perlowin, captain of the Yale yearling forces and a graduate of Erasmus Hall High School of Brooklyn.

In the final round, Perlowin lost only to Giolito, 5-1, taking all of his six remaining clashes in that bracket. In the preliminary round he faced only two opponents and won both tests.

Three-Weapon Champion

Robert Miller of Harvard took third prize. He is a resident of St. Louis and is the A. F. L. A. individual three-weapon champion in his district. Miller had a full day of competition, for he competed in the Yale-Harvard cub meet in the afternoon and won all eight of his bouts. Last night he lost only to Giolito and Perlowin in the final.

Cranston Jones of Harvard won four of his final-round bouts, while Nathan Krisberg of Army, Alfred Parsons of N. Y. U. and Leo Selzer of Columbia each won twice.
