NOTES

- Because of World War I, only Columbia, Penn, and Yale were able to send teams to the 1918 championships. As a result, only foil was contested.
- Beginning in 1935, the team competition was organized with the three team members each placed in one of three separate pools and fencing only the other fencers in that pool. For several years there was no fence-off between the winners of the A, B, and C pools. The winner of the A pool was considered the individual champion but the winners of the B and C pools were also recognized for their achievement.
- Because of World War II, no championships were held for the years 1944-47.
